

Phoenix Rising

Phoenix sets a new benchmark for exciting architecture in Melbourne.

Builder Terry Anderson, along with Architect Mark Richards have created a high voltage residence, which resembles a slice of Manhattan just off Canterbury's Golden Mile. Bold elements in classic white & grey, this residence pushes the boundaries of design to the top level.

Exfoliated "Basalt Black" granite tiles are used extensively. The front entrance & courtyard extend into the living area and is only broken by a "gun metal" grey carpet square in front of the huge fireplace.

At the rear is a simple lawn area with a huge English Oak and rear Granite dining area.
