

Private Residence Prahran

This project posed a real challenge for landscape architect John Patrick.

Faced with a dated circular pool and a small block on two levels, combined with a modern extension, he has transformed this drab garden into a masterpiece.

Dunkeld sandstone was chosen and used throughout for its durability and soft colour tones.

Three courses of curved stone were laid to the pool edge highlighting the circular shape.

A sandstone book leaf wall was constructed to retain the adjacent garden and capped with sandstone bullnose for additional seating.

The work was carried out by Julian McCarthy and his team to exacting standards resulting in this fabulous garden.
